Expert consulting for life science innovators — from biotech startups to diagnostics developers, academic founders, and investors, through in-depth scientific, operational, and strategic expertise.

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I am an experienced R&D executive, scientist, and entrepreneur with over two decades of international experience in the life sciences sector. My background spans academic research, biotech startups, and diagnostics product development, with a proven track record of guiding multidisciplinary teams and launching innovative technologies. Technologies I helped develop are now commercialized by Qiagen, Roche, Thermo, and Bio-Techne. Most recently, I co-founded a diagnostics company focused on point-of-care CRISPR-based molecular testing.

CONSULTING SERVICES

- Technology Evaluation and Due Diligence – Scientific and technical evaluation of emerging life science technologies and platforms.
- Market Assessment and Business Plan Development – Market research, product-market fit analysis, strategic roadmaps, and business plan development.
- Startup and Scaleup Advisory – Company formation, licensing, interim leadership (CEO, CSO, CTO), R&D and operational support, team building, and product development.
- Quality Assurance & Regulatory Affairs – Quality Management, IVD development (design control, ISO13485, IVDR, FDA), regulatory strategy, clinical trial planning.
- Fundraising and Strategic Partnerships – Investor and partner engagement, pitch deck creation, non-dilutive funding, and grant application support.

CLIENTS AND PARTNERS

- Early-stage biotech, life science and diagnostics startups
- Venture capital firms and investors seeking technical due diligence
- Academic researchers and university spin-outs
- SMEs expanding their R&D capabilities

ENGAGEMENT APPROACH

I provide flexible consulting arrangements ranging from brief technical assessments to long-term advisory or interim management roles. Based in Munich, Germany, and Copenhagen, Denmark, I collaborate with teams across Europe and North America and adapt easily to cross-functional and multicultural environments.
